

The Supreme Court has handed down the decision in the case of the Constitutional Amendments and decided that the publication of the amendments in the form of statutes is sufficient to come within the law, although the legislature is taken to task for not having made better provision to place them before the people. The Court doubtless strained a point in favor of the State in order that the work already done on the amendments might not be thrown away, and the decision gives the best of satisfaction to everybody. It saves the State the expense of calling a Constitutional Convention and if the amendments or a majority of them are adopted it will remedy all of the leading defects of our present Constitution.

All that remains now is for the Legislature to provide for a special election and proper publication of the amendments so that every elector in the State will be able to vote intelligently on the questions embodied in them.

The opinion is by Bigelow and concurred in by Murphy.

Eastern editors and politicians now find themselves at a disadvantage in the discussion of "the only live issue" with the Western people. During the last campaign the silver question was jealously excluded from Eastern papers, and the silver campaign under Weaver's leadership was strictly ignored. But the silver movement polled 1,040,000 votes, captured several States and now controls the United States Senate. Since silver is conceded to be the leading important question before the American people the political press east of the Mississippi finds itself unprepared and uninformed for the discussion of the issue.

THE SILVER BALLOTS.

Letters from James G. Field and H. E. Taubeneck Acknowledging Them.

Gordonville, Va., Jan. 31, '93.
Messrs. M. S. Bonfield, Thomas Wren and C. C. Powning—Dear Sirs: I have today received through Mr. Taubeneck the beautiful silver ballot, by which the State of Nevada honored me as its choice for the exalted office of Vice President of the United States.

I wish I had words adequately to express the feelings of gratitude that now fill my heart; but I have not, and can only assure you and my noble friends in Nevada that I shall ever honor and cherish this beautiful memorial of the highest honor I have ever received.

I trust my unwavering devotion to Nevada's interest, which is also the interest of my country, will testify to some extent at least my appreciation of the great honor conferred upon me.

Will you do me the kind favor to express to all my friends who have thus honored me, my sincere thanks. May we, through the mighty influence of a pure and untarnished ballot work out the redemption and prosperity of our whole country. With assurances of my highest esteem, I have the honor to be

Very truly yours,
JAS. G. FIELD.

Washington, D. C. Jan. 29, '93
M. S. Bonfield, Esq., Winemucca, Nev.—Dear Sir: I wish to acknowledge the receipt of two sets of silver ballots cast by your electors in voting for president and vice-president Jan. 9th, 1893. One ballot for General Field, one for General Weaver, and the other two for myself. I have expressed Field's and Weaver's to them and requested each to write and acknowledge their receipt.

For those presented me, I wish to thank you and every man who voted for our cause last November. Silver is going to be the big issue in the near future.

When the people of the Mississippi valley and of the South understand the silver question as you do, they will vote as the people of Nevada did last November. The silver miners of the West can rest assured that the great mass of the people will vote for silver when it is properly put before them. Again I sincerely thank you for those two ballots.

Yours for our cause until victory is ours,
H. E. Taubeneck.
